Mr. Khalid Moinuddin Hashim

Managing Director

Precious Shipping Public Company Limited & Its Subsidiaries (“The Company”) Business Ethics & Code of Conduct

Definitions

Business Ethics are the qualities of virtue, truth, justice and righteousness that business conduct should follow.

Code of Conduct is a code of behavior to be followed to maintain and promote dignity and reputation.

Our Principles

We are committed to:

- Honesty
Company executives should be truthful to people involved. They should not intentionally mislead or deceive others by distorting information, exaggerating or giving partial truth. Nor should they discriminate against people by doing or abstaining from doing something required to be done.
- Integrity
Company executives should exhibit their personal integrity and courage to uphold their convictions by doing things they perceive as right despite pressures favoring the opposite. They should be respectable, impartial, and committed to their principles. They should fight for their beliefs and never compromise their principles for any objective that would turn them into deceivers or immoral persons.
- Trust worthiness
Executives should disclose and provide related information, as well as correct any misunderstanding on facts. They should try in every proper way to fulfill their promises. They should not abuse technical or legal interpretation as an excuse not to cooperate or comply with contractual obligations.

- Loyalty

Our executives should exhibit their loyalty to the company by dedicating themselves to their respective duties and to its people by providing support and assistance whenever required. They should not use or disclose confidential information for personal advantage. On the contrary, they should maintain the ability to make decisions independently as professionals, avoiding inappropriate conduct and conflict of interest, as well as being faithful to the company and their colleagues. If the executives intend to leave and work somewhere else, they should notify appropriately in advance and treat the company information as important and confidential. They should not exploit their former positions for their own benefit.

- Fairness

All executives should be fair and just towards all people. They should not use their power deliberately, neither should they resort to cheating or inappropriate tactics to obtain or maintain benefits or advantages from misled or distressed people. Fair-minded executives should disclose the agreements set for consideration and treat everyone equally, be open to disagreeable opinions, willing to admit the mistakes they make, and ready to shift positions and beliefs to appropriate and correct ones, if the situation demands.

- Concern for others

Our executives should be considerate, sympathetic, kind, and well intentioned to others. As the golden rule says, “Treat others the way you want to be treated”, executives should provide the help that people need. They should also pursue proper means to achieving business objectives in a way that the business objectives are aligned with the objectives and interests of people.

- Respect for International Human Rights Principles

Company executives should mutually respect each other’s honor, freedom, privacy, legal and human rights, as well as the interests of stakeholders. In making their decisions, executives should be gentle and treat everyone as equal without discrimination by gender, class, or race.

All directors, the management and staff strictly respect International human rights laws including those that relate to forced labor or child labor. The Company does not tolerate any violations thereof. All stakeholders are treated fairly and in a dignified manner, without any discrimination on the basis of national origin, race, gender, age, skin color, religion, physical condition, status, or birth.

- Commitment to Excellence

Executives should excel in their performance, i.e., should be equipped with knowledge, be prepared, and should work hard to enhance knowledge and skills to cope with every issue under one’s responsibilities.

- Leadership

All executives should be aware of their own responsibilities and leadership requirements and should seek and comply with code of conduct models that would benefit themselves and the organization when put to work. They should also attempt to create an environment in which principles and ethical decision-making are given utmost importance.

- Reputation and Morale

Senior executives should create and defend company's reputation, as well as employees' morale, by singly and collectively avoiding any action that would hurt the inter-relation between the company and employees. On the other hand, all employees must singly and collectively do everything necessary to correct and prevent any wrongdoing committed by others.

- Accountability

Executives should be aware of, and accountable in following ethics when making any decision and omission for the company, themselves, their colleagues, and the community.
